I participated in a full-time immersive Web Development course completing in-class projects, hackathons, and personal projects focused on real-world applications of web development principles and best practices. I developed a portfolio of individually and collaboratively focused in-class projects. Some of my favorite projects I completed were Cactus Pinterest and Sips and Bites. I loved being able to design both of these projects with a fun feel that went along with the app. I was constantly coding for 7 days a week for 4 months. I was featured on General Assembly's social media platforms.

I assisted with country music artists such as Sunny Sweeney, The Josh Abbott Band, and Aaron Watson. I was in charge of updating stats and data that was needed to help better pitch ideas to help boost the artist's record sales. I also got to apply my photoshop skills to create gifs and lyrics cards for artists as well. Additionally, I got to sit on and brainstorm in weekly meetings for upcoming album releases.

I was in charge of collecting and checking in designer clothes, shoes, and accessories for the magazine and organizing the collections efficiently to help editors prepare for run throughs. As a style intern, I was in charge of setting up home goods for run throughs that were being considered for The O List. I also attended photo shoots for style & fashion, and had the responsibility of making sure the models were ready. I had to document & correctly put back in order items, so it was ready to go to color
